> Ist. That the plaintiff in error was not entitled to a trial by jury. The proceeding in this case is in conformity with the mode prescribed by the code, Sections

Corporation courts are provided for in sec. 1, ort. 6, of the Constitution. A strong, prompt and efficient police power is necessary to the proper government of the aggregated masses of cities.
Such ordinances as the one in contest have been enacted in all the States of the Union from the first colonization of the country, and existed in England from the first period of its known history. Such ordinances, though peculiar to a particular municipality, are not partial laws in the sense of the constitution. On the contrary they are regarded with favor, as they are adapted to the peculiar wants of the several localities where enacted. within the meaning of the 5th section of Art, 1 of the Constitution, and hence it was not constitutionally objectionable to perpetuate the original testimony before the Police Commissioner, and to read the same on the appeal in the Municipal Court.

and it is affirmed. No. 26, Same vs. same. The plaintiff in error was fined $50 for an assault on a po-lice officer, the same being a violation of a city ordinance on the subject, and the principles involved in this case being the same as are determined in the case above.

No. 24. Mayor and Aldermen of Memohis vs. Joseph Lenow. From Memphis Municipal Court. In 1856 the Mayor and Aldermen of Memphis granted to defendant in error, Lenow, permission by ordi-nance to make an entrance to the base-ment or cellar of a house on Madison street, in Memphis, by a descending stairway, occupying a space of five feet of the public sidewalk of the street outside of the wall of the house of the defendant. Lenow, under the permission granted by the said ordinance, constructed his stairway, and occupied and used the same con-tinuously to the beginning of the action. In 1867 the Mayor and Aldermen enacted bstructions from the sidewalks of the public streets, and the closing up of all entrances to basements of buildings, that the grant of the permission by the city authorities, and the expenditure by him of money to construct the stairway, and the long confinned use and enjoy-ment of it, conferred on him a right of property not subject to be divested or ter-minated by the subsequent action of the Mayor and Aldermen, and that they are estopped from revoking the permission. Held, Smith, Judge, delivering the opinion of the Court, that the defense in this ease is without merit. The only effect which can be given to the permission granted is of a license determinable and

The use and possession of the stairway being by permission was not adverse, and therefore can give him no right by pre-scription or lapse of time. Moreover the lapse of time in this case has not been long run against the Government.

It is unnecessary to consider whether and to what extent the city can by con-tract grant to an individual a portion of a public street, or whether the Mayor and Aldermen can surrender or abandon the public easement of way in part of a street so as to exclude the public from the right to the unobstructed use of such afreet, as there was no such contract or surre n this case. The St. Louis Democratof Monday says:
To-day we advertise the first packet of the "St. Louis and New Leans Packet Line," of which John W. Carroll is general agent, and Wm. F. Haines freight agent. The boats of the line for this week are the Bismarck, Magenta, and Belle Lee, which will be followed by others, and enough of them to preserve the wont ed activity at the wharfboat, which wa formerly the property of the A. & M. S. Company, and enough of them to constitute the "S. L. & N. O. Packet Line" one of the largest, most punctual and most reliable of the various lines we have ever had engaged in the important trade they represent. The way in which the wharf boat is owned is this: Bismarck and owners one-sixth, Lizzie Gill and owners one-sixth, Mississippi and owners one-sixth, Pauline Carroll and owners onepublic sidewalks.

The defendant refused to obey the ordinance, whereupon the city instituted this action before the Police Recorder to recover the penalty prescribed by ordinances in such cases.

In the meantime, there is another line—the barge line—whose claims and powers the barge line—whose claims and powers the barge line—whose claims and powers. of expansion cannot be ignored. Three steamers of the largest class will soon be attached to this line, and how many ther after there is no use in guessing. T Mollie Able will begin to load Monday morning at the foot of Walnut street, as one of the Transportation company's packets, and hereafter she will take on her cargo at the company's wharfbeat.
